

Abstract

The invention relates to sulfur-containing animal-feed additives produced from fermentation liquors, and to processes for their production.